

Why Oltraya

What makes the difference. And why it matters.

We take fewer projects. By design.

Oltraya will never be the largest developer in the market. That is not a limitation — it is a decision. Every project receives the complete attention of the founding team, from land selection to final handover. You will always know who is responsible for your investment.

Every document. Before you ask

Soil testing reports, regulatory approvals, construction timelines, payment plans — available in full, before you sign anything. Most developers consider this information proprietary. We consider withholding it a breach of trust.

Designed by architects. Not assembled by contractors.

Oltraya Verde is designed by CCBA Designs, founded by the late Prof. Christopher Charles Benninger — one of India's most respected architects. Every amenity, every pathway, every planted space has been considered by people who understand how design shapes the quality of a life.

We build in locations before the market catches up

Our land selection is informed by fifteen years of watching where Pune's premium market moved — and where it was going to move. We don't follow the market. We read it early and build before it confirms we were right.

The outcome of all of this — the transparency, the design, the long-term thinking — is not just a better investment. It is peace of mind. That is what we are building toward. That is what Oltraya means.
